A Personal Appearance That Merits Recognition

When you make a survey of the young men who are doing well for themselves you find that they are doing things that make them deserving of the success that is theirs. They are not content to be just one of the crowd and their personal ap-peraance says so. They make their indi-viduality worth something by having the right sort of clothes—tailored to their personal requirements.

HO WAS SH

The astounding, baffling mystery of a pretty girl who, on her return to consciousness after a serious accident, had to face Motherhood without the slightest recollection of her past life!

A DREADFUL CRASH ... a blinding flash .. agonizing pain ... abysmal chaos ... darkness . . . eternal darkness!

And in the hospital - weeks later - a little mysterymaiden slowly and uncertainly shambled back from maiden slowly and uncertainly shambled back from the stygian void of unconsciousness to face a more dreadful calamity. Anxiously the hospital authorities awaited her answer to their oft' repeated question: "Who is she?" — and to their utter amazement she told them she didn't know!

A careful examination revealed the astounding fact that her memory extended only as far back as the accident. Previous to that everything was a blank; association with the persons and things of her past life absolutely did not exist. And then the authorities began asking: "WHO WAS SHE?" But her sensational story, published with her photograph in the newspapers, failed to bring word from relatives or friends.

Nameless and Friendless!

But the worst was yet to come. The same Fate that had dealt her such an unkind blow decreed that again she must sojourn into the valley of the shadows — this time to answer the insistent call of Mr. Stork! Poor little nameless creature! And having learned the ghastly truth, she turned her pretty face to the wall and prayed that both their lives be taken. "I just cannot go through with this second ordeal," she sobbed, "uncertain even of my claim to respectability!" And to complicate her unhappy plight, the handsome young Interne at the hospital offered her his name — in marriage! "Who are my parents?" she cried in anguish; "Oh, why don't they come for me?"

mer"
What could they do about it? What was the secret of this girls past? Was she married? Who was the child's father?
What would the future hold for them? Nobody knew! Then, almost by imperceptible degrees, there formulated in her subconacious mind a nebulous something suggestive of lofty mountain peaks and the sweet aroma of pines. Were the "dear, dead days beyond recall" beginning to formulate themselves in her mind? Was memory.....

.... you really must read this unusual story yourself to appreciate its astonishing complications, its tragedy and pathos—and running through it all a beautiful romance. It is featured in TRUE STORY MAGAZINE for December—now on sale at the newsstands. You cannot afford to miss this unique page from real life, far removed from the cut and dried themes of fiction. ### The Triumph of Truth!

No better evidence can be offered of TRUE STORY'S power for good than the thousands of letters that pour in to the edi-torial offices from people in every walk of life. They tell of torial offices from people in every wast of me. They tell of the real help they have received by reading the stories of those who have gone through the fires of experience. The purpose of TRUE STORY MAGAZINE is to teach by example; to reveal life as it really is. That is why this popular magazine has the greatest newstand sale in the world.
